

Lara L. Alcuetas

BSCS -1A

1st activity – Living in the IT era

This hardware and software are ideal for businesses because they offer the basic tools needed for smooth operations. The hardware, like computers, monitors, keyboards, and other devices, helps employees perform tasks such as typing documents, managing data, and communicating effectively. The software, including browsers, word processors, and business applications, allows businesses to handle tasks like creating reports, browsing the internet, and managing daily workflows. Together, they ensure that businesses have reliable and user-friendly tools to improve productivity and simplify work.